

Rutland Historical Society Quarterly

Vol. IV, No. 2

A Fantasy of College Life

This quarterly, published in 1974, discusses the requirements of a liberal arts college geared solely towards women who can major in the selected areas of the Arts, Philosophy, Natural Science, Mathematics or Languages. This college is conceptual, and is solely within the mind of Daniel M . Foley. This quarterly concludes with a photograph (with details) of a sugaring scene by Brehmer found hanging in Arch Todd's home.
