

Rutland Historical Society Quarterly

Vol. IV, No. 1

West and Main Streets

This quarterly, published in 1974, discusses the background history about the Rutland Bicycle Rink and discovered evidence that rink at some time after its existence was a shirt factory and a plant for the Marble City Electric Co. Mr. Scieszka was an enlisted man aboard the U.S.S Rutland and sent a picture of the flag and of the ship as a memory of the “Rutland Navy”. The quarterly also includes a few book reviews of Rutland’s interest, of which are Frontiersman of Fortune. Moses M. of Mineral Point. by K.W. Duckett; The Pictorial Field Book of the Revolution. by Benson Lossing; and Reverend Samuel MacClintock’s Journal 1760. edited and published by the Crown Point Road Association.
